Field Event Expectations: Athletes are expected to remain at the field event until at least 2nd call of a track event; then, they must report to the field event judge that they are leaving the field event. At that time, athletes will be told they have 15 minutes to return and continue competing. Upon being permitted to leave the event, the athlete will be given a note stating the departure time and the expected 15-minute return time. This note is expected to be shown during their return to the event judge when the athlete checks back in. If they will not make it back to compete and need more time, the athlete or a coach should report back to the event judge and request an extension along with a new 15-minute excusal note, that states the extension time and expected check-back-in time, rather than leaving the event stalled out of respect for the other athletes. Failure to report to field events in 15 minutes will result in an inability to complete warm-ups and/or forfeit their attempt at a throw or jump. Once the field event has started, warm-ups will not be permitted. The only athletes that are allowed warm-up time after events begin are those choosing to enter at heights other than the starting height in pole vault and high jump.

- Example: 10:00 am Joe is vaulting and needs to run the 100m. Joe must check out with the head event judge. The head event judge should hand Joe a check-out note marked with the exit time and the expected return time. Exit Time: 10:00 am / Return Time: 10:15 am. Joe must return this note to the head event judge to check back in. If Joe is not checked back in by 10:15 am and his attempt rolls around, the event judge will call his name, and after one minute, his attempt will be considered a miss.
- BOTTOM LINE- PLEASE RESPECT THE WORKER AND OTHER ATHLETES' TIME!!
